

It was Jungle Fun Fair Day in Blossom Forest! There were games, music, coconut rides, and yummy Mango-Pop Ice Cream. All the animals were having fun.

Momo the Monkey had saved three bananas to buy a giant mango lollipop.

As he skipped to the candy stall, he heard a loud cry. "Quaaaack! Quaaaack!" It was Dilly the Duck. "My ducklings are missing!" she cried. "I can't find them anywhere!"

Momo looked at the candy stall. Then he looked at Dilly. He really wanted his lollipop. Then he remembered what Wise Owl Blossom always said: "A kind heart notices chances to help."

"My lollipop can wait," said Momo. "Let's find your ducklings!" Soon, a funny search team was helping. Tito the Turtle searched so slowly that everyone laughed. Poppy the Rabbit ran so fast she searched the same bush three times! Bongo the Bear tried calling the ducklings while eating honey cookies. "Mmffle ducklings, mmffle here!" he mumbled. Nobody could understand him!

Just then, Momo heard tiny voices near the coconut ride. "Quack-arr! Quack-arr!"

There, hiding inside a pile of coconut shells, were Dilly's four ducklings. They were pretending to be pirates! "Found you!" laughed Momo.

Dilly hugged her ducklings. "Thank you, Momo! You stopped your fun to help us."

Momo smiled. Helping had taken only a little time, but it made a big difference to Dilly and her family.

Then the candy seller walked over. "For helping others," he said, "here's a giant mango lollipop!" It was so huge that Bongo asked, "Are you sure that's a lollipop and not a tree?"

Everyone burst out laughing!

Momo realized that true values are not just words we learn. They become real when we practice them. A small act of kindness can make a big difference in someone's life.

Question: Have you ever stopped what you were doing to help someone? What happened?

Heart-Work: From now do one small act of kindness at home, at school, or in your neighborhood. Notice how helping makes both hearts blossom.
