

Student 1 and Student 2 were close companions, sharing classrooms, games, and laughter. Yet, their paths at home and in life were different.

Student 1 cherished learning, honored his teachers, and treated every soul—human, animal, or plant—with kindness and equality. His heart was filled with respect and compassion. Student 2, however, often neglected his studies and failed to show kindness or respect to those around him.

Yet, Student 1 never gave up on his friend. With patience and love, he encouraged Student 2 to embrace human values. In his daily Light Meditation, he prayed sincerely, sending divine love and healing light not only to his friend but to all creation.

Student 1 dreamed of serving the sick. Hence, he joined a medical school to become a doctor. However, he found it too difficult. Hence, he chose another healthcare profession that suited him better. During his internship, his kindness, helpfulness, and respect for everyone stood out. Patients felt comforted simply by the way he treated them. The entire hospital administration was impressed with his character. They offered him a job immediately after his internship. Grateful, he thanked God, his grandparents, parents, and teachers, who had guided him with values that became his strength.

One day, destiny brought Student 2 to the hospital as a patient. With tears, he confessed: "I ignored your advice, my grandparents, my parents, and my teachers. Because of that, I lost so many opportunities in life."

Student 1, calm and radiant, replied: "My dear friend, it is never too late to a good beginning. Every step taken with good values brings you closer to joy, peace, and success. Start from now."

From that moment, Student 2 awakened. He began practicing kindness, respect, and gratitude each day. Slowly, his life transformed. People loved him, opportunities opened, and success followed wherever he went.

Question and Heart-Work: Which value will you practise more from today onwards?
