

🇬🇧 SSSSB Story 059a: Luna, Anita and Their Two Friends [5-12 years]

Once upon a time, there were two girls, both eight years old, named Luna and Anita. They lived near a pond at the edge of the forest. The girls had two animal friends: Kiki, a parrot and Bubbles, a little fish.

Every morning, they walked to the pond and called out joyfully:
"Good morning, Parrot Kiki! Good morning, Fish Bubbles!"

Kiki, the cheerful parrot, loved to chatter and play. Bubbles, the gentle little fish, always spoke with kindness.

One sunny day, Kiki said: "Luna, Anita, let's surprise the turtles by scaring them! Wouldn't that be fun?"

Bubbles shook his fin and whispered softly, "No, dear Kiki. Scaring others bring fear, not joy. True friends bring happiness. Let us do something kind instead."

Luna and Anita nodded. "Yes, Bubbles is right. Kindness makes the heart shine."

So, Kiki flew to a tall tree, plucked some sweet berries, and dropped them gently into the pond. The turtles peeked out, curious, and soon began munching happily.

"Thank you, Kiki and friends", the turtles said. "Your kindness filled our hearts with joy."

Kiki's eyes sparkled. "Now I understand. Even a small act of love can make the world brighter. True Friendship means helping each other do good things."

Luna and Anita smiled, holding hands. "That's why we are the best of friends – because we chose kindness together!"

And from that day on, Luna, Anita, Kiki, and Bubbles made their mission to spread joy in the forest. The turtles joined them too, and together they discovered the secret: Kindness is the greatest gift we can share.

Question: How can you help your friends do good things?

Heart-Work: Do something good to others. After some time, share your experience.
