

Materials: Small slips of paper and a basket or bowl

How to Play

1. Write different talents or strengths on slips of paper and place them in a basket. Good listener. Sports player. Artist. Singer. Problem solver. Friendly person. Helper. Encourager
2. Each child picks one talent slip.
3. One at a time, children read their talent aloud and complete this sentence: "I can use this talent to help others by..."

Examples:

- a. "I can use my sports skills to teach younger children."
 - b. "I can use my listening skills to help a friend who is sad."
 - c. "I can use my art talent to make cards for people who are sick."
4. After sharing, the group gives a loud cheer: "Every talent can make a difference!"

Bonus Round: Match the Talent

The teacher reads a helping situation:

- "A new student feels lonely."
- "The playground is messy."
- "A younger child wants to learn a game."

Children volunteer which talent could help in that situation and explain why.

Discussion: Did anyone have the same talent but a different way of helping? Why is every talent important? How does helping others make us happy?
